

In her current role at Roche, Belinda leads the Asia-Pacific supply chain team. She is responsible for demand, sales and operations planning, driving supply chain strategy and transformation for the region. Building new capabilities where required, the ambition is in getting medicines to patients when they need it, where they need it.

She started my professional career in the logistics industry with companies like EXEL, DB Schenker and DHL, specializing in international logistics solutions, transportation management, cold chain distribution and warehousing. Later, Belinda joined GlaxoSmithKline in various supply chain roles including Global Logistics, where she was responsible for both Pharma and Consumer businesses in Asia Pacific.

Belinda has three young boys, who teach her something new every day and puts her resilience to the test in the challenging yet rewarding role of being a working mum.