

Lucas is the Chief Scientific Officer of CellVec in Singapore; the first GMP accredited CDMO in South East Asia dedicated to the development and manufacture of clinical grade gene therapy vectors.

A molecular and cell biologist by training, Lucas was previously a Senior Investigator and Head of Manufacture for Advanced Therapies in King's College London, where he oversaw the translational development and manufacture of a range of Immune Cell and Gene Therapies.