

Liu Xiao has over 20 years' experience in process engineering, project management and information technology. She currently leads a group of information professionals responsible for providing manufacturing site infrastructure & information technology, maintaining site information systems reliability & compliance, and delivering process automation solutions. Her group is also responsible for the site information system cyber-resiliency and site system Data integrity Programs.